The production of television fiction has been one of the audiovisual industry's greatest growth areas since the proliferation of channels generated by TDT, satellite, etc. Multiple slots have opened up to receive TV movies and fiction series, characterized by the affinity they inspire in the target audience. In Catalonia, the production of TV movies, for example, has provided a prolific breeding ground for new talent. Alongside these relative newcomers, established filmmakers, too, have embraced this more flexible format. In Spain, Televisió de Catalunya was one of the first networks to create a dedicated TV movie slot in their schedule, in which over fifty titles have been broadcast to date. This catalogue brings together the most recent proposals. I invite you to discover them.

Adrenaline

Adrenalina

Directed by R. Figueras, J. Johnson, C. Camí

Synopsis:

One night, while Raul is making out with his girlfriend in his car, he sees a couple of youths beating up a boy. Raul manages to scare them away and saves Alex, who explains that those posh kids were roughing him up because he peed on their car. They quickly get along, and Raul lays out a plan for revenge: he suggests they should burn the attackers' car. That first act of arson forms a strong bond between them: from that day on and for several months, they enjoy themselves setting fire to cars, taping it and then uploading the videos to the Net. But one night, an old man gets hurt while trying to put out the fire.

After the rain

Després de la pluja

Directed by Agustí Villaronga

Synopsis:

A city that hasn't seen rain for over two years. An exclusive multi-storey office building. A story of ten lives intertwining, of three workdays. Of grey characters, ordinary, solitary, lost: secretaries, administrators, executives, computer technician, courier, lift operator. Of furtive visits to the rooftop to smoke, to conspire, to escape their daily problems, to exteriorize their anguish. And also to dream. In short, to seek happiness. Then the rain finally comes...

Life's a swine

Porca misèria

Directed by Joel Joan

Synopsis:

A TV series where drama and comedy are two sides of the same coin. The pet pig in the series says it all – “Life’s a Swine”. The characters here are all city-dwellers in their 30s living in Barcelona. Their tragic-comic love and work lives are told with wry humour, avoiding melodrama. The third season is full of surprises, it’s time to take stock, perhaps change direction. Major life choices are in the wind. New characters join the cast and the star of the series, Pere, an insecure, neurotic scriptwriter, lets his imagination run wild.

Love in difficult times II

Amar en tiempos revueltos II

Directed by Gerard Gormezano

Synopsis:

This second season spans from the autumn of 1945 to the spring of 1948, the first years of one of the most difficult periods of the post-war era in Spain.

Following Antonio and Andrea's flight to France and the consequences this has upon the rest of the Robles family, Paloma's cocktail bar becomes the real nucleus of the series. A synthesis of many other such establishments operating in Madrid in those days, it is here that the main characters come together and most of the stories unfold.

Synopsis:

Deborah lost her young son in a tragic accident at a supermarket carpark. The man responsible is Juli, who lives with his wife and paraplegic mother. Deborah wants to make him pay for the death of her son and passes herself off as a nurse coming to take care of Juli's mother. Once she has entered Juli's life, she will stop at nothing to ensure that he is left all alone in the world, just like her. While she carries out her plan, she pretends to be a perfect help around the house. How long will it take Juli to see that she's a threat? Will he realise too late?

Frosted violets

Violetes gebrades

Directed by Sílvia Munt

Synopsis:

Emma, a fifty-year-old widow who's always worked in a prison. Her monotonous, solitary life takes a sharp turn when she meets Julia, condemned to fifteen years for having killed her father while he was beating her mother. The scars on Julia's body left by years of abuse, her silence, her introversion, all spark Emma's curiosity, and Emma knows Julia won't be able to last long in prison. This knowledge and her maternal desire to help Julia, force her to confront the indifference of Julia's mother, Rosario, the inhumanity of the prison director and the disinterest of her lawyer.

Serrallonga Serrallonga

Directed by Esteve Rovira

Synopsis:

Serrallonga is the story of tough times, times when being a bandit was one of the few escape routes from a life of misery. It's the story of how one of these bandits, Serrallonga, managed to become a legend without aiming to.

We are referring to a violent and brutal age, when the fight for survival was the only concern of a people enslaved by hunger and feudal structures.

We are referring to the distance between legend and reality and how people had to create their own myths, although these did not match their reality.

Asunto Reiner

Directed by Carlos Pérez Ferrez

Synopsis:

Silvia is a municipal policewoman who lives in a small town on the outer edge of Valencia, not far from an exclusive residential development. She lives with her husband, her young daughter and her mentally retarded brother, Camilo. One ill-fated day a little girl goes missing from a gypsy settlement that has grown up on the outskirts of the town. The evidence points to Silvia's brother as the culprit. Camilo commits suicide. But not long after, another gypsy girl disappears. Convinced of her brother's innocence, Silvia goes to an ex-police friend of the family for help.

The lost The lost

Directed by Bryan Goeres

Synopsis:

Psychiatrist turned bestselling writer, Kevin Khoury, finds himself obliged to practise again in order to treat a girl called Jane in Barcelona. As Kevin proceeds in his analysis of her case, he discovers, with the help of a policeman, that Jane's multiple personalities match those of girls who have gone missing in the vicinity over the years. An investigation is mounted that will force Khoury to relive his past in Barcelona, to the point of discovering that his ex-wife is dead. The search for the girls' murderer and the reason behind it all has a final twist which brings the story to a totally unexpected end.

The plot

La trama

Directed by Roman Parrado

Synopsis:

After being on leave following a miscarriage at seven months, Helena is keen to get back to work and back to her lifestyle. Impulsive, demanding and uncompromising in her concept of professionalism, Helena unintentionally gets involved in a case that will lead her to suffer methodical and devastating intimidation from one of her superiors.

As if that were not enough, her relationship is not exactly at a highpoint. Only her determination to discover the truth, and the unflagging support of her friends, keep her from going under.

Unnatural causes
(Clean break)

Directed by Rob Malenfant

Synopsis:

Julia and Matt own a prestigious advertising agency in Barcelona and are, to all appearances, the perfect couple. But their relationship begins to go sour when Matt starts to suspect that his wife is cheating on him. Tortured by this suspicion and the stress of his job, he takes to the bottle, starts to do drugs hard, and even bashes Julia one day, who promptly walks out on him for her own safety. With the help of Trevor, his right-hand-man at the agency, Matt contracts someone to follow Julia. The situation becomes increasingly unbearable.
